Judge, commissioner, contractor cases set

By BRENT MACEY
The cases of two men charged in connection with emergency repairs at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore and arraignment of a Hancock County Justice Court judge on embezzlement charges are scheduled for the April term of Hancock Circuit Court which opens Monday.

Civil docket for the term includes an action filed by Lamar and Collett Ladner, owners of Pinball Palace on Beach Boulevard, against the mayor and City of Bay St. Louis.

Bay St. Louis attorney Henry J. Cook has been appointed by Senior Circuit Court Judge Leslie B. Grant as special state prosecutor in the trial of John Ladner on forgery charges.

Ladner is among those charged following investigation of emergency repair work at Gulfview last Spring.

Judge Grant will preside at the term which is scheduled to continue through April 17.

Ladner's trial is set for call Monday. Cook said he was asked to serve as special prosecutor because both District Attorney Albert Necaise and Hancock County Prosecutor John Genin, recused themselves because of personal interests in the case.

Cook said Necaise and Ladner are related.

The county prosecutor normally would handle a case in which the district attorney is recused, Cook pointed out, but a law associate of Genin's once handled a case involving Ladner.

Therefore, the senior judge has ap-

Stennis projects no major NSTL budget reductions

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Mississippi's U.S. Sen. John Stennis projects no major budget cutbacks for the National Space Technology Laboratories.

Stennis accompanied U.S. Navy Secretary John H. Lehman Jr. on a Friday tour of government installations along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The Washington D.C. entourage landed at about 3 p.m. aboard two two twin-prop Navy helicopters from Pascagoula, Fla. on a lawn fronting Building 1100 at NSTL.

After chatting briefly with NSTL military and civilian officials in front of Building 1100 Stennis and Lehman were whisked away in a tour bus.

The officials returned to Building 1100 at about 4 p.m.

In a brief interview with reporters Stennis said he and Lehman flew by jet to the Gulf Coast from Washington D.C. and "wanted to see everything primarily involving the Navy."

Stennis reported that earlier in the day they visited Ingall's Shipyard in Pascagoula.

The senior senator noted at NSTL they toured all Naval offices and the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant now under construction.

Regarding President Ronald Reagan's proposed budget cuts effects on Mississippi, Stennis said, "I don't have any exact figures in mind. There are certain things I have to get more up date on."

When asked if the budget changes would effect NSTL, Stennis replied, "I can't say that it would not."

"I don't think there will be any major cutbacks, but it's too early to say because it's just the first step for the proposed budget."

"The proposed budget will have to go to the U.S. House of Representatives first," he added.

"I'm favorably impressed and very much pleased with NSTL," Stennis stated.

"There won't be any major cutbacks of an installation so worthy. I'm proud of this installation," he said.

Just before stepping back into a waiting helicopter Lehman echoed Stennis' favorable remarks.

Stennis added he wished to tell everyone in Hancock County hello and noted that the county's airport is named in his honor.

Sheriff investigating US-90 store burglary

By WAYNE DUQUOIR JR.
The Hancock County Sheriff's Department and Waveland Police Department is investigating burglary of a US-90 convenience store and vehicle rental store in Waveland.

Sheriff's Investigator Delbert Seay Saturday reported some $806 of beer and groceries were stolen Thursday night from 'Fast Stop' located on the south side of US-90 across from Asher's Grocery and Hardware Store.

Seay said the culprits apparently left a large automobile and a stolen U-Haul rental truck at the store.

"The burglars apparently drove the car behind the store and got stuck. They then went down US-90 and stole a U-Haul truck to try to pull the car out of the mud," the investigator explained.

Seay said the thieves apparently broke a rope in the attempt.

"There was another vehicle involved which they left the scene in," Seay added.

"We have some very promising leads in this case at this time," the investigator noted.

Seay reported Deputy Dennis Tartavouille responded to the store theft report.

Seay along with Investigators Robert (Poochie) Tartavouille and Sandra Henley of the Waveland Police Department are probing into the incidents.

BRIBERY CHARGED

Hancock County Jail records list Bay St. Louis police arresting Gifford Strong, 23, at 9:45 p.m. Friday.

Strong is charged with bribing an officer and possession of a controlled substance.

Steve Payodou, 23, was also arrested Friday night and charged with public drunk and possession of a controlled substance.

Bay St. Louis police officials were unavailable for comment Saturday regarding the arrests.

BURGLARY ARREST

Neal Hampton, 18, of 510 DeMontuiz St. in Bay St. Louis has been released from county jail on a $5,000 bond after being charged by the sheriff's department for a Shoreline Park burglary.

A juvenile has also been charged in the incident and placed in custody of the Hancock County Youth Court.

Both were charged at 10:02 p.m. March 25 for allegedly stealing $800-$900 of various items at about 10 a.m. March 22 from the home of John Glossop of Route 1, Bay St. Louis (located near the Kiln-Waveland Cutoff Road).

Seay reported coins, a .22 caliber automatic rifle, .22 caliber magnum revolver, and hunting knife were stolen from the Glossop residence.

"All merchandise stolen was recovered except for the coins," Seay noted.

WAVELAND THEFT

Jail records also show Charles E. Tague, 29, arrested by Waveland police at 1:50 a.m. Monday and charged with burglary.

Waveland police officials were unavailable for comment Saturday regarding the arrest.

FOUR JAILED

Four men are awaiting extradition to Alabama following their arrest by sheriff's department deputies. The department is planning to charge the four, arrested on Hwy. 607 near I-10, with possession of stolen property.

William Churchwell, 46, Box 122, Byron, Ga.; and Billy Pearson, 37, and Grover Pearson, 38, both of 200 Main St., Pine Bluff, Ark. were all charged at 12:25 p.m. March 22 with public drugs.

William Monahan, 44, of 443 Oak St. in Houston, Tex. was charged with at the same time with driving under the influence and no drivers license.

Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson reported

Friday, "An officer with the Mississippi State Tax Commission I-10 truck scales saw what he believed was a man get shot or beat up by some other men on Hwy. 607 near the Hancock County Welcome Center."

"We put out an all points bulletin based on the description of the vehicle spotted at the scene," Peterson stated.

"Deputy Dennis Tartavouille later stopped the automobile in front of the old reptile farm on US-90 and the four were arrested," Peterson said.

"An investigation ensued which revealed the vehicle, some cloths and money found were stolen from someone in Mobile, Ala," the sheriff noted.

Regarding the Hwy. 607 violence, Peterson explained, "We feel all four were travelling together, three got mad at one of them and knocked him out of the car."

BULL SHOT

A Lakeshore man has been charged with grand larceny after he apparently shot a neighbor's bull.

Joe Leech, 66, of Ansley Road in Lakeshore was charged with grand larceny at 9:40 a.m. March 28.

Peterson reported, "A bull belonging to the man's neighbor apparently got out of a fenced area and allegedly trampled Leech's wife."

"Leech allegedly got his gun and shot the bull," the sheriff said.

"After he apparently shot the bull, Leech allegedly refused to give the meat to the owner until his wife's hospital bill was paid by the bull's owner," Peterson explained.

"The bull's owner signed an affidavit against Leech and we arrested him on a grand larceny charge," Peterson noted.

The sheriff said Seay and Investigator Bobby Parker of the Mississippi Highway Patrol investigated the incident.

POT PLANTS FOUND

The sheriff's department recently arrested two Garden Isles residents on charges of cultivating marijuana.

Peterson reported, "We received information from an informant that William and Carolyn Dorris, 33 and 25 respectively, of Washington Road near Bay St. Louis were apparently growing marijuana plants in their home."

"We obtained a search warrant and confiscated 28 marijuana plants. Most of the plants were growing under a fluorescent light in a bedroom and a few were growing outside," Peterson explained.

Investigator Alvin Ladner is in charge of the investigation.

Seay, Peterson and Deputy Glen Jackson assisted in the arrests.

The Dorris' were released on $1,000 bond each.

The Spinal Column

By
WILLIAM L. POWELL, D. C.

Headache Cause May Be Pinched Nerve

According to a report issued by the N. Y. Journal of Medicine, the cause of headache in over 90% of 2,000 patients studied was a mechanical irritation of the nerves that exit between the bones of the neck. The report states that "Direct injury to the neck may be caused by a blow, or, as fall, that could easily irritate delicate spinal nerves."

American Weekly Magazine informed readers, "Headaches strike 18,000,000 Americans on a regular basis," and each day some 21 tons of aspirin are consumed in the attempt to gain relief.

Modern chiropractic treatment seeks to eliminate this irritation of spinal nerves and produce effective relief of neck tension and headaches.

Warm weather brings out the fishermen, especially on the Bay Bridge.

We observed several spots on the bridge, roadway and walkway, piles of dead fish Thursday.

Most of the fish seemed to be hardhead catfish, which can give a person fits if stuck into a foot.

The catfish could probably cause a flat tire, especially on a bicycle or motor bike.

It is our understanding that it is against the law to leave these trash fish on the bridge.

We guess it will take a few citations by law enforcement officers to get the attention and we hope they will issue them.

If you catch a fish, and you do not want it, you can toss it overboard very easily.

We have a nice bridge and it also serves as a fishing pier. Just think, it is two miles long, so really that makes it four miles of fishing area, so let us all try to keep it clean.

While on the fishing bit, thought we would mention the Legion Pier now complete at the head of Washington Street in Bay St. Louis.

We know there are certain fools who will try and tear the thing apart, so others will not be able to use the facility.

We urge anyone seeing any vandalism at the enlarged pier to please call the police.

The Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139 should be commended for offering the public such a nice fishing facility.

Every year, the apple trees flower on the grounds of Coast Electric in Bay St. Louis.

The trees are getting larger and prettier each year and lend to the beauty of US-90.

When one travels to Gulfport, especially this time of the year, he can see the beautiful display of Raphiolepis Indicas at the home of Mississippi Power Company.

These flowering shrubs add beauty to US-90 in Gulfport.

Wouldn't it be nice, if all the businesses along US-90 on the Mississippi Gulf Coast would landscape their grounds like the power companies and a handful of other concerned merchants.

Candid Answers To Your Questions
About Advertising and Business Topics.By S. GALE DENLEY

Our hospital board is considering advertising in the local media. But I'm afraid some in our community will be upset if we try to sell health care like you sell soap. A Reluctant Board Member.

Dear ARBM: I could very well ask you, what's wrong with the way we sell soap—but, I won't.

What I will pose, however, is this question: Is there anything about your hospital the general public needs to know to further your, or their, best interests?

The American Hospital Association and the Federation of American Hospitals recognized the need for hospital advertising in 1977. Since that time, according to the Winter/81 Health Care Management Review, as many as 20 per cent have done some form of patient oriented advertising.

The advertisements have ranged from annual reports published in local newspapers to a special drawing for an all-expense-paid cruise for only those patients who had entered the hospital on a Friday or Saturday.

A mail questionnaire in a mid-western city area found an almost equal division among those who expressed an opinion about hospital advertising. A single study of this type, of course, is not conclusive, but it may be an indication of the public attitude.

One finding, however, is of interest—the only single characteristic found among those favoring or opposing such advertising was their attitude towards hospitals. No relationship was found between age groups, educational levels, income, number of children, length of time in the community, occupation, sex, race, marital status or exposure to hospitals as a patient or in any other way. And, this finding is consistent with other studies on general acceptance of advertising which have also failed to turn up any single or group of factors to characterize those opposed to or favorable toward advertising.

Those who favored advertising in hospitals felt more involved in the hospital selection process, want more information about hospitals, and believe that hospitals should be viewed as businesses and would run more efficiently if sound business principles were used.

So, if you decide to advertise, keep these factors in mind. For advertising can play an important part in positioning the hospital in the minds of this group of consumers. You might stress prevention of illness, emergency services, and the steps that are being taken to run the facility in what would be considered a business-like manner.

Langston also reports several missing letters on the hospital name at the entrance have been replaced. Hancock General Hospital reported a record patient daily average of 40 during February.

Chamber endorses
U.S. budget cuts

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors, at its March meeting, endorsed President Reagan's total economic program of extensive spending and tax cuts.

"The board feels that, in order to succeed, the President must have a unified coalition of Americans who will rise above self-interest and urge Congress to get on with the job," said Dick Kosbab, chamber president. Kosbab said letters have been sent to Mississippi's U.S. Senators John Stennis and Thad Cochran and Congressman Trent Lott informing them of the Chamber's endorsement of Reagan's economic program.

"These proposed spending cuts are distributed throughout the federal budget, and will affect virtually everyone in both public and private sectors. We must each be willing to accept a share of the sacrifice, put first the greater good for all Americans and exude confidence that the President's economic program will succeed in stimulating genuine economic growth," Kosbab continued.

Dear Sir:

After reading Sunday's Echo I was very disappointed.

I take exception to the article "What Episcopalians Believe." It's a slap-in the face to a fine Christian people! If the article were written in the church newspaper for Episcopalians it might be a fine article — to make those that need to, see the light and learn a lesson. However, to print it for public reading is insulting.

The Echo has always served a very functional purpose in our area and a good way to keep in touch for those gone from home — at times it has really felt the pulse of our people.

Please, let's not start slandering a people when the space could be utilized for much more newsworthy purposes.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir:

The Randy Adam, Ken Harder, Bob Heitzmann, Joe Cook, Keller, Donald Mallini and Jim Mallini families sincerely thank all of the fire departments and all the many volunteers who saved our houses on Wednesday, March 18 during a tremendous woods fire on Ninth Street in Bay St. Louis.

If it hadn't been for the dedication and professionalism of those people we would have lost our homes. Everyone did an outstanding job. Their work is deeply appreciated.

Again, we thank all of these people for their promptness and efficiency.

Mr. Wayne Ducomb Jr.

Dear Wayne:

I thought it might be a good time to bring you up to date on the progress of our survey. All the questionnaires were mailed out on Friday, March 13. I've begun receiving returns and they look very helpful on the whole. Everyone responding to the questionnaire is being very cooperative.

Two problems have arisen that we had hoped to avoid by our design of the questionnaire and the accompanying cover letter. Both problems center on questionnaire recipient's misunderstanding of the purpose and nature of the study.

First, the questionnaire refers just to the property at the address to which the questionnaire was sent. Some people, in their eagerness to help, have filled out the forms for other places in Hancock and Harrison counties where they found things in the past. That information is helpful in the broad sense, but not directly in the context of the mail survey. The objective of the mail survey is to ascertain if the recipient has or has not ever noticed anything at that particular address. That's all.

Second, returned questionnaires that tell us that the person filling it out never noticed any of the artifacts or features in question at that address are just as valuable to us as returned questionnaires that tell us they once found something.

We need that information since we are trying to estimate the density and distribution of archaeological sites in the area of Bay St. Louis and Pass Christian which are now covered by houses and other buildings.

In order to make those estimates, we need to know where sites have not been found as well as where they have been found.

I suspect that many people have not returned the questionnaire simply because they have never noticed any of the things listed on the questionnaire and feel that we are only interested in getting back questionnaires that tell us they've found something. Nothing could be further from the truth.

These problems, if they persist, could seriously bias the study results.

However, it's still too soon to determine how much effect they may have.

I'll write you again when we've gotten more returns in and have had the opportunity to do the initial data analyses.

Sincerely,
R. Barry Lewis

SPRING'S BEAUTY

The plum trees are a maze of white
As they shimmer and gleam in bright sunlight.
A sure sign that Spring is really here;
Winter's freezes are over, no more frosts to fear.

Tiny white petals float gently to the ground
In their softness and beauty, make not a sound.
A faint fragrance permeates the air
Oh, thank you God, we see you everywhere.

Japanese Magnolia also in full bloom,
Covering each branch and bough where there is room.
Flowers form a beautiful compact bouquet,
Makes you want to gaze — never wander away.

What a joy just to stroll amid flowers and trees
And feel the soft freshness of Spring's gentle breeze.
Birds singing, bees winging from flower to flower,
Holding Mother Nature's hand, wander hour after hour.

With freedom and relaxation we wander along,
Find ourselves humming Spring's gentle song.
Of new birth and flowers, soft clouds, fragrant breeze
Knowing full well God's within all of these.

THE TOR

'The Illegal Alien: Curse or Blessing?'

Editor's Note: The following article on 'The Illegal Alien: Curse or Blessing' by Dr. L.H. Gann, senior fellow at the Hoover Institution, Stanford University, is furnished to The Sea Coast Echo by Public Research, Syndicated of Claremont, Calif.

Wide open and unguarded stand our gates. And through them presses a wild and motley throng—Men from the Volga and the Tartar steppes, Featureless figures from the Hoang-ho, Malayan, Scythian, Teuton, Celt, and Slav. Flying the Old World's poverty and scorn. Thomas Bailey Aldrich's poem, written 90 years ago, struck an answering chord among many of his countrymen who dreaded the strange-looking newcomers from Europe and East Asia.

Americans have since come to accept that motley crowd of Germans, Chinese, Russians, and Irishmen whose arrival Aldrich had dreaded. But now a new specter has come to haunt our land—the specter of the illegal immigrant. He is commonly—though not always—of Mexican birth; he is generally young, male, and he frequently supports one or more dependents in his own country.

His main reason for coming to the USA is to find a job, and he rarely fails to do so. Newcomers from Mexico usually have little formal education; they are apt to cross and recross the border several times in the course of their respective careers.

Non-Mexicans are likely to have had more schooling, and they normally settle permanently in this country.

Judging by the publicity that he has received, the illegal immigrant is a most unpleasant fellow. He has managed to arouse the hostility of men and women who do not agree on any other subject—liberal zero-growth population experts, trade unionists, and bar room patriots who "just don't like them Spics."

The illegal immigrants' alleged failings are many. They compete unfairly with American workers and thus lower their wage rates.

The illegals add to the taxpayers' welfare burden.

The men and women who cross our borders vastly increase the American population, and thereby render ineffective existing forms of population control; they accordingly place new burdens on the diminishing ecological resources of the USA.

The illegal immigrants—some say, through not loudly—belong to the most backward strata of their own country; their religious bigotry, machismo, and male chauvinism accord ill with those new lifestyles centering on personal growth and sensitivity that we ought to cultivate.

The illegal immigrants will Hispanicize the country. They add to our crime rate. And so the complaints continue.

What are the facts? Between 1820 and 1975 something like 47 million or more immigrants lawfully entered the USA. In recent years, legal immigration has been supplemented to an extraordinary extent by illegal immigration. No one knows exactly how many have come. But according to published reports, the Immigration and Naturalization Service in 1961 apprehended 88,823 illegal aliens.

Fifteen years later, in 1975, their number had increased to 875,915 of whom 765,095 were expelled from this country. At this moment, analysts estimate that something like 6 to 8 million illegal aliens dwell in our midst.

How do they make their living? Contrary to prevailing stereotypes, no more than about one fifth are employed in farm work. They do all kinds of rough jobs, laboring in textile manufacturing, food processing, construction.

They usually get lower wages for their work than American citizens, but they are not necessarily ill paid, and wage rates among them differ considerably.

There is no evidence that by their mere presence they lower wage rates; on the contrary, by contributing to the economy in their dual capacity of consumers and producers, they help to raise both their neighbor's living standards and their own.

Most of the illegal immigrants speak Spanish. But, taken as a whole, Spanish-speaking immigrants—Cubans, Puerto Ricans, Guatemalans, Mexicans—are too diverse in origin, class background and education to have established a truly effective ethnic lobby.

Hispanic American are even more diverse than the Prussians, Wurttembergers, and Bavarians who came to our shores in the 19th Century, and who were ill suited to the task of building a consolidated German lobby.

The Spanish-speakers are no more a danger to our political institutions than the German-speakers were in the past. Neither is the immigrants' crime rate unduly high; it is certainly no greater than that of any comparable group composed primarily of young men.

Stereotypes notwithstanding, the illegal aliens make few demands on the U.S. taxpayer.

Few aliens collect unemployment benefits, go on welfare, receive food-stamps, or use Medicaid. They fail to obtain the kind of public subsidy with—according to many experts—keep the poor from starving.

But the illegals do not die of hunger or deprivation; they work hard for their living; when they are in need of assistance, they apparently derive help from kinsmen, friends, and churches.

Far from burdening the public treasury, the illegals mostly contribute to it through social security and federal income tax payments withheld from their pay checks, without corresponding benefits.

Illegal immigration does make a difference to the demographic balance.

We have accepted refugees from countries as diverse as Vietnam and Haiti; we have to cope with illegal labor migrants from Mexico, the so-called indocumentados; we accept a substantial number of legal immigrants—altogether about a million people a year.

In 1977, statisticians calculated that if zero population growth were to be achieved through equalization of births and deaths, immigration—legal and illegal—would account for all the growth in the US population.

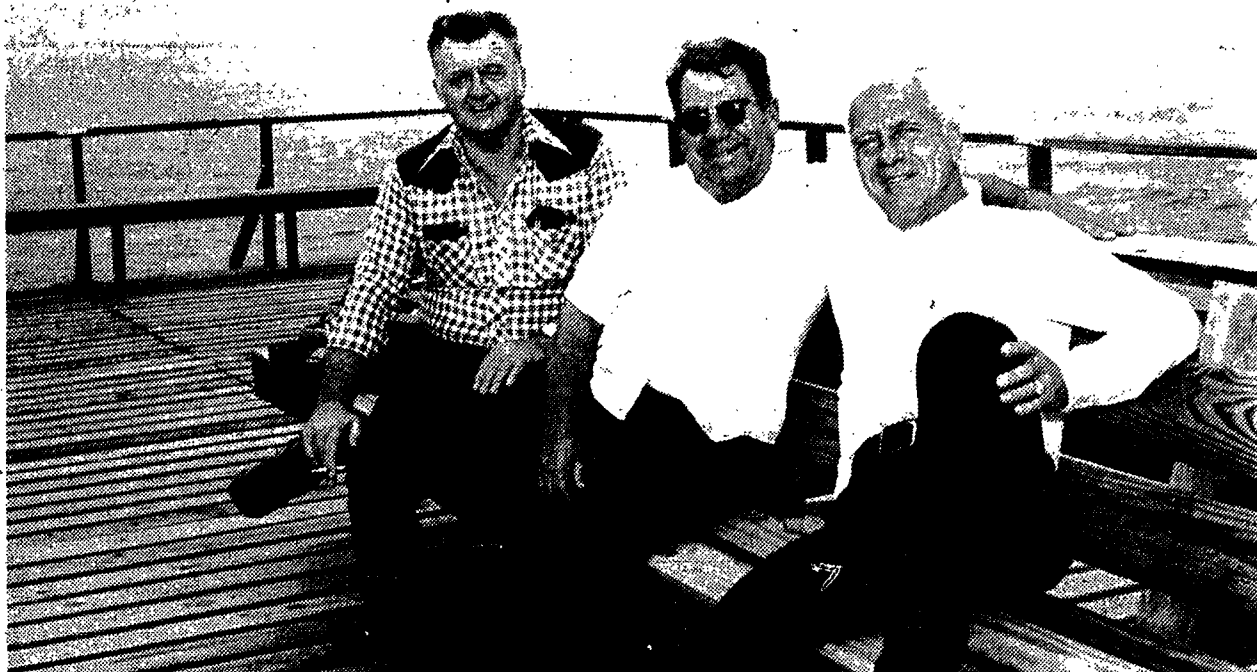

Assuming that we want a stationary population, and a rapidly aging one, we should keep out these newcomers.

But if we desire a dynamic society, we should reconsider some of our assumptions concerning the supposed advantages of a stationary and an aging population.

The opponents of immigration assume that the U.S. has reached the limits of growth, that—if unchecked—immigration will turn into a human tidal wave, that the benefits achieved by our country from immigration in the past will not apply in future, and that the indocumentado, the unregistered, unlicensed individual who stands on his own without benefit of welfare payments, is a scourge.

But the illegal alien simply responds to the market for his skills. He will leave when there is no demand for his services.

There is no essential difference between Francisco Lopez from Mexico City who has come to the USA today, and his predecessors of yesteryear, John Smith from London, Padraig O'Hara from Cork, Hans Muller from Tubingen, Issac Greenberg from Lodz, Benito Fellini from Palermo—an endless throng who among them made America.

WARNING LABEL REQUESTED FOR LOCKER ROOM SCENT

A petition to require room odorizers containing alkyl nitrites (usually butyl nitrite) to carry warning labels and be sold in child-resistant safety packaging has been received by the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission.

The odorizers are reportedly being inhaled and are reported to be popular because of their alleged euphoric effects.

The petitioner, Ronald W. Wood, University of Rochester Medical Center, cited two adult male deaths following ingestion of butyl nitrite. He said the aroma-producing chemical is being sold under various trade names.

Vic Franckiewicz good management

Bay St. Louis must have good management in the mayor's office. There should be clear lines of authority for all city departments to operate efficiently and legally. Our present city employees can do a better job if they are properly organized.

We have to cut unnecessary costs. "Blank check" construction contracts, poor engineering, equipment rental and equipment repairs are major areas of waste.

Establishing a routine maintenance schedule for drainage and utilities and improving street patching procedures will save on costly repairs, and will help improve the appearance of the city.

The savings from good management can help finance permanent improvements in the annexed area and in other parts of town. It is a mayor's job to propose new construction projects and to see that contractors and engineers are held responsible for their work.

Good management requires the mayor to communicate and cooperate with the city council and with the citizens at large. If we all work together, Bay St. Louis will be a better city.

Hancock wastewater plan almost complete

By BRENT MACEY

Ray Eaton, engineer for the Waveland Regional Wastewater Authority, told members of the authority Wednesday night that a cost per-household figure estimated for Bay St. Louis joining the Waveland treatment facility may be $5.50 per month.

Eaton had informed authority members in January that an estimated cost for Bay St. Louis and Waveland citizens connecting to a Waveland plant would be between $3.85 and $4.25.

He attributed the increase to an additional $1 million now added to the original cost estimate delivered to the board in January.

The additional $1 million dollars now brings cost for the plant to $2.5 million dollars not including another $170,000 for operation and maintenance.

Eaton noted those figures are based on 1980 dollars and may increase ten percent by the time the project is ready for bidding.

Eaton noted that the figures are "only preliminary figures" and stated the $5.50 figure "should be the high point."

From that figure I believe we will be working down in finalizing a cost figure," Eaton said.

He said he will be meeting shortly with the state Bureau of Pollution Control "one or two more times" to go over the plan for the county run wastewater facility.

The pollution board has informed the Waveland Authority that any plan for a county run treatment plant must meet their approval and the approval of the Environmental Protection Agency before any grants for the project will be approved by the EPA.

Eaton said the $170,000 now allocated for operation and maintenance of the plant now includes three more jobs, one at $20,000 and two at $12,000 annually.

"It's not the cost of maintenance that is the problem, it's the salaries and personnel which can eat you up alive. You have got to have enough (personnel) but not go over board," he said.

The plan now calls for six employees to operate the plant.

"I will have to meet with them (Pollution Control Board) to see exactly what they expect," Eaton said.

Numerous items have also been added to the original plan including, costs for a bond attorney, city attorney, survey, resident inspector, operational and maintenance manual, a rate study, archaeological study, wildlife study, environmental study and soil analysis.

Eaton said he has gone over the plan "very thoroughly but I want to check it again and have my staff check it again just in case I may have overlooked something. At this time I do not think that I have," he stated.

Eaton said he will also meet with the Waveland Authority's attorney Lucien Gex to go over legal aspects of the plan before meeting with the Waveland Authority again to receive their approval.

He said the plan should be completed by the next meeting, the first Wednesday of May.

He added he has made an agreement with the pollution control board to contact Mayor John Longo, president of the Waveland Authority, and board members to "call off" the plan if that plan is found to be more expensive than the Gulf Coast Regional Wastewater Authority's plan for a three county sewerage treatment system.

The Waveland Authority members agreed to call off the plan if the plan is found to be more expensive.

Longo said, "If I thought this plan was not as good as the three county regional plan I would call it off in a minute."

"But I definitely think it is the best way to go," he added.

Financing the plan is based on receiving a 75 percent grant from the EPA, a loan from the Farmers Home Administration at five percent interest rates, a possible interest free loan from the Air Water and Pollution Control and approximately $817,000 in local funds, the engineer stated.

He said the legislature appropriates money every year to the Pollution Board for loan purposes and stated that money may be available next year.

Authority members seemed confident money will be loaned from the FMHA.

Eaton said he talked with people in Jackson who informed him FMHA funding will not be effected by federal budget cuts.

"It's the only program in the U.S. that helps cities with utility rates," Eaton said.

Longo stated he felt chances of the Waveland plant receiving EPA money are better than chances of larger plants seeking those funds.

"They will look at this small project in Hancock County and say we can get this out of the way," he said.

He mentioned this in view of the fact the federal government may cut back $30 to $100 million dollars allocated to the Mississippi EPA.

Members of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce also attended the meeting.

David Treutel, spokesman for the Wastewater Disposal Committee for the chamber, said the group attended "basically because we are trying to encourage full cooperation of all three entities (Waveland, Bay St. Louis and Hancock County) in achieving a common goal."

"We want to help the three entities find a common plan and then help sell that plan to the public," he added.

Treutel asked the committee early in the meeting if the plan which Eaton is working on is a long range plan for the county.

Eaton and Longo assured the group the plan is projected approximately 20 years into the future.

Eaton said the plan will deal with solving sewer problems in Bay St. Louis first.

Later the plan will extend to outside areas including Shoreline Park and other areas, he said.

Authority members agreed they are responsible for deciding how to levy payments for expansion of the system.

Eaton said the board could decide to have the cost distributed to include the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, or the board could choose to have the new area being connected pay the entire cost.

"We will be deciding that on an individual community basis when we get to that point," Longo said.

In terms of costs for Bay St. Louis and Waveland, Longo said both cities will be paying the same for sewerage treatment when connected to the Waveland plant.

"If people in Bay St. Louis or Waveland feel they will be paying a dime more than they will never be able to sell the plan," he said.

The indictments allege Ladner submitted invoices to the Hancock County School Board in the name of Tommy Lane.

The Hancock County School Board declared an emergency situation at Gulfview after a tornado struck the school buildings in May, 1980.

Ladner is charged with receiving, endorsing and cashing two checks totaling $4,840 in Lane's name after allegedly submitting invoices for painting work at the school.

Also scheduled for trial appear during the April session of Circuit Court are R. D. (Bob) Rippetoe charged with false pretense in connection with allegedly presenting the Hancock County School Board a bill for emergency repair services never rendered at Gulfview.

His trial date is set April 13. Lloyd Anderson, District Three Justice Court judge, is set to be arranged Monday on charges he embezzled $155, allegedly having been acquired by virtue of his office.

Trial date for Henry A. (Buck) Marquar is set for April 6 on a charge of false pretense.

The trial of Donnie M. Stroud is set Tuesday April 7.

Stroud was originally scheduled to face ten counts of burglary of a dwelling as a co-defendant with Kenneth Demoran.

Circuit Clerk Henry Otis said a motion for severance allowing Moran to be tried separately was sustained in the January Circuit Court.

Otis said Demoran, initially scheduled for trial in Hancock County may no be tried in Harrison County.

Demoran's attorney, Joseph Benvenuti of Bay St. Louis, said he may find out during Monday's session of court whether Demoran will in fact be tried in Hancock or Harrison County.

He faces 16 counts of burglary of a dwelling in Hancock County and numerous charges of burglary of a dwelling in Harrison County according to Sheriff Ronald Peterson of the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Peterson said the two were allegedly involved in burglaries in the Diamondhead, Kiln and Bay LaCrosse areas of Hancock County.

Demoran is currently in Hancock County jail and Stroud is out on $15,000 bond, Peterson said.

The case of Elighah A. Belino and Jerry Wayne Bridges is set for Monday.

The two face five counts of armed robbery in connection with an alleged robbery of Seymour's Jewelry and Gift Store in Bay St. Louis.

Otis said Bridges is also charged with assault and battery in connection with that robbery.

Trial date for Joseph D'Angelo is set April 15.

D'Angelo is charged with 12 counts of burglary of an automobile.

Peterson said the charges stem from D'Angelo's alleged hopping of a freight train from Gulfport to New Orleans during which time he allegedly broke into 12 new automobiles being transported and stole keys.

In civil action cases, a $200,000 law suit involving Mayor Larry Bennett and the City of Bay St. Louis vs. Lamar and Collette Ladner is also scheduled.

In Count I of that suit the Ladners claim their First Amendment Rights (freedom to assemble) were violated when Bay St. Louis police officers arrested the two outside their business establishment, The Pinball Palace, for loitering.

Lamar Ladner was arrested Sept. 29 and Collette Ladner was arrested Sept. 30, 1980.

The suit claims the arrests were "an outgrowth of a deliberate attempt to harass the plaintiffs in violation of their First Amendment rights."

Count I of the suit requests Bennett and the city $50,000 in compensatory damages and $100,000 in punitive damages.

Some $50,000 is requested from Bennett and the city in Count II of the law suit which states the plaintiff was "deprived of property without due process of law according to the 14th Amendment."

Count II states the plaintiff complied with Mississippi State Statutes to obtain a beer permit from the state tax commission but that permit was never granted by Mayor Bennett and the city.

According to Count II the plaintiffs spoke with Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams to obtain the requested permit but were told, "I'll have to check it out."

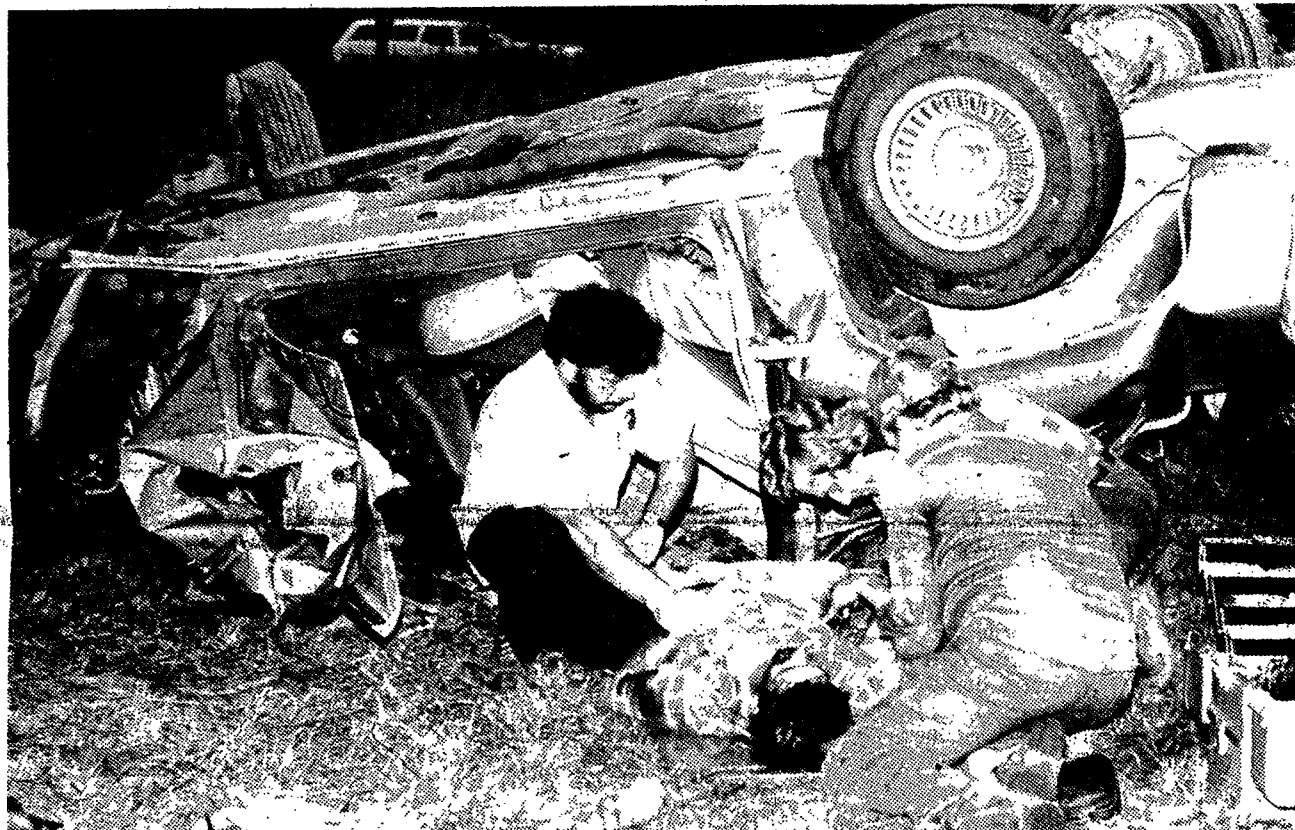

Later their application was returned to The Pinball Palace by Gordon Campbell, a Bay St. Louis police officer, the suit states.

During another meeting with Williams the chief said, "We must talk with the city fathers," the suit states.

A meeting with the Mayor March 3, also failed to obtain the permit.

"The action of defendant Bennett acting individually and in capacity of mayor of Bay St. Louis has caused damages to your plaintiff in the amount of $50,000," the suit states.

All payments are asked of Bennett and the city both jointly and severally. Some two hundred and nine other civil cases are also scheduled to be heard during the court session.

Super Sunday opens Library Week

Libraries across the State of Mississippi are celebrating Super Sunday today.

Initiated in 1978 as a kick-off event for National Library Week, Super Sunday has received national recognition as a method of focusing attention on public libraries in Mississippi.

To celebrate Super Sunday in Hancock County, the library system and the Little Theatre have joined forces to sponsor two performances by TOUCH, a mime trio.

The group is in Mississippi to perform for William Carey College's 75th Anniversary Festival and agreed to make a special appearance at the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre on Boardman Avenue at a 2 p.m. performance for children and their parents.

A 7 p.m. show is scheduled for adults. Tickets will be available at the door. The prices are $2 for the 2 p.m. show and $3 for the 7 p.m. performance.

On Monday, April 6, at 4 p.m. at the Little Theatre, the Library is sponsoring a performance of Three Golden Oranges by Peter Zupletel's Puppet Arts Theatre.

Zupletel, puppeteer for Mississippi Educational Television, uses full production techniques for his unique presentations.

There is no admission fee, but parents should call or visit one of the libraries in Hancock County to reserve a seat for their children.

Passes will be available at the door on a space available basis.

Rocks move into first place in PRC

By Randy Ponder
St. Stanislaus moved into first place in the Pascagoula River Conference baseball standings after dumping East Central 5-2 Friday afternoon in Bay St. Louis.

Pitcher Andrew Haas boosted his record to 6-1 after going the distance to claim the win, posting eight strikeouts. The Rocks built a five run advantage with two runs in the first and three more in the second inning before the Hornets pushed their two runs across in the fifth.

First baseman Steve Favre and catcher Joe Gex had one RBI each. Brad Lamey collected the game's only extra base hit, a double. St. Stanislaus is undefeated in conference play with a 3-0 record. Overall, the Rocks are 10-4. Earlier in the week, St. Stanislaus squeaked past St. John 3-2 Wednesday afternoon by scoring an unearned run in the last of the seventh inning. Catcher Joe Gex scored the deciding run on an Eagle error.

after having stolen third base to make the play possible. Gex reached base on a walk and advanced to second on a bunt single by Haas.

The Rocks tied the contest with two runs in the bottom of the sixth with Shawn Henderson's double and a sacrifice fly by Gus Alme.

Haas was credited with that victory also, although he pitched only two thirds of one inning. Gus Alme pitched the first six frames, giving up only one hit and striking out five hitters. He was lifted in the seventh to make way for Brian Logan who pitched one third of that inning.

Haas made his appearance, picking off a runner at second base and fanning the man at the plate to end the inning.

The Rocks stole seven bases in front of the home folks. Sean Logan and Haas each swiped a pair and Gex, Lamey, and Brian Logan stole one base apiece.

Tiger third baseman Bobby Richardson tags out a Knight base runner

Tigers split with West Lauderdale

By Randy Ponder
The Bay High Tigers were outclassed 6-2 by the visiting West Lauderdale (Fla.) Knights Friday night in Bay St. Louis, but redeemed themselves with a 9-3 win over the same club on Saturday.

Scotty Adam was the winning pitcher in the Saturday contest. Adam also slugged a home run and drove in two runs. Mark Breland and David Strong both had two RBIs. Bobby Richardson and Mike Ladner each knocked in one run. Other details of this game were not available at press time.

In the Friday night game, West Lauderdale jumped on the Tigers for two runs in the second, one in the fifth, and three more in the seventh inning.

A series of Tiger miscues, errors, and the aggressive base running of the Knights prompted one coach to comment to one of the officials, "Now I know why you got out of coaching."

The Knight's placed runners on first and third in the second inning with a single and a ground ball. Following the single, the runner at first was going on the pitch and when the fielder came up with the ball he threw wild to first where the runner was safe.

West Lauderdale's first run scored when the second baseman mistandled the throw on a steal attempt. The runner moved to third on a passed ball charged to the Bay High catcher. The man at third scored on a squeeze play.

On a hit and run play in the Tiger second, following a single by Mark Breland, the next Bay High batter failed to make contact with the ball and the runner breaking from first was easily tagged out.

The pitcher's best friend, a double play, got the Tigers out of a third inning jam.

In the bottom of that inning, a lead off double by Mike Ladner was wasted when the next three batters went down in order.

Bobby Richardson punched a double past the short stop in the fourth frame to bring home the Tigers first run. Mark Breland and Hooty Adam both reached base on walks before Richardson's hit. Two more walks accounted for the Tigers last run to knot the contest at 2-2.

The Knights broke the tie in the fifth and added insurance runs in the seventh to put the game out of reach. David Strong was charged with the loss. Bay High is 7-6 on the season and will play Notre Dame in a road game Monday night at 7 p.m.

St. John's setting for Baum, Walsh marriage

Lisa Marie Walsh became the bride of Rene Baum in an evening ceremony on March 14 at St. John's Catholic Church in Lakeshore.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin J. Walsh Sr. of Lakeshore. The groom's parents are Mrs. Ruby Wallace of Lakeshore and Larry Baum of Waveland.

Rev. Tom Stepanski celebrated a Nuptial Mass. Musical selections were rendered by pianist Mary Howard of Kiln and vocalists Alvin J. Walsh Jr. of Lakeshore and Dolly Rester Lee of Kiln.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an antebellum style formal gown of chantilly lace over silk taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a Queen Anne neckline overlaid with jeweled chantilly lace flowerettes. The full bishop sleeves ended in matching lace cuffs. Her bouffant skirt was fashioned with tiers of chantilly lace ruffles and swept to a chapel length train. Her veil of silk illusion was edged with chantilly lace and was held by a matching jeweled lace caplet.

She carried a chantilly lace fan adorned with a magnolia and baby's breath.

Theresa Haslauer of New Orleans attended the bride, as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Vickie Walsh of Lakeshore, sister-in-law of the bride; Karen Walsh of Pearlinton, sister-in-law of the bride; Nancy Garza of Lakeshore, sister of the groom; and Rosemarie Bolton of Metairie, cousin of the bride.

The bridesmaids were attired in formal gowns in pastel shades of apricot, green, pink, yellow and blue. The fitted bodice featured an off the shoulder neckline. The full skirts were bordered with a wide flounce caught at the back to form a bustle. They wore picture hats accented with silk roses and net illusion.

Each wore a cameo on matching ribbon and carried chantilly lace fans with silk flowers to complement their gowns.

Miss Stephanie Authement of Waveland, cousin of the bride, was miniature bride. Billy Schneller of Lakeshore, brother of the groom, was miniature groom.

Kenny Walsh of Pearlinton, brother of the bride, served as best man.

Baptist ceremony unites Williamson, Holland

Terri Anne Holland and William (Charlie) Williamson, both of Waveland, were united in marriage on March 21 in an early afternoon ceremony at Waveland First Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Everett (Donna) Canal of Hawthorne, Calif., and the late Luey Holland. The groom's parents are Mrs. L. T. (Mary) Jones of Waveland, and Mr. William Williamson of Phoenix, Ariz.

Reverend Joseph Abel officiated at the double ring ceremony held under a bridal arch intertwined with silk daisies and flanked by yellow and white silk arrangements of chrysanthemums, tulips, and daisies with white tapers.

A musical selection was provided by Mrs. Mildred Means.

Given in Marriage by her uncle, Larry Eye, the bride was attired in a formal gown of silk organza over bridal taffeta. The empire bodice featured a high neckline and sheer, oval yoke overlaid with jeweled chantilly lace and full bishop sleeves with matching lace cuffs. The softly flowing skirt, bordered with a wide flounce of organza and lace, swept to a chapel length train. Her tiered veil of silk illusion was edged with chantilly lace and held by a matching lace caplet.

She carried a nosegay of silk daisies, yellow roses, and lace with yellow and white streamers tied in love knots. Janice Almond of Bay St. Louis attended the bride as maid of honor and Karen Fayard of Waveland as bridesmaid.

Their matching floor length gowns of green and yellow eyelet, respectively, featured lined skirts, gathered to the bodice with self ruffles at the neck and hemline, accented by matching ribbon sashes. They wore rings of baby's breath in their hair. Each carried a long-stemmed yellow silk rose.

The groom was attended by Robert Fleming of Waveland as best man and Gary Sotak of Bay St. Louis as groomsman.

Ushers were Richard Ladner of Bay St. Louis and Chief Petty Officer Tim Hendrickson of New York.

A reception followed the ceremony at Scafield's Wheel Inn. The private dining room was bedecked with white wedding bells and streamers.

The bridal table was covered with a white satin cloth overlaid with lace. A profusion of daisies cascaded over the three-tiered wedding cake designed by Mrs. Kay Beard, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Nancy Demoran, both of Long Beach.

The bride's mother chose for the occasion a floor-length gown of burgundy silk. She wore a corsage of white, miniature roses.

LongueVue home and gardens viewed by BWGC

Bay-Waveland Garden Club recently traveled to New Orleans to visit the Longue Vue home and gardens.

The house at Longue Vue is a period home of the late 1930's and early 1940's.

While there are beautiful 18th and 19th century English and American pieces, they are at home with copies of Georgian-style furniture.

At Longue Vue modern art coexists harmoniously with Russian (Karakagh) carpets and Chinese rice paper wall covering. "The Gardens are divided into six different areas—each one beautiful and displaying a special focal point," according to Mrs. John R. Newkirk, club spokesman.

"The combination of fountains, flowers, and manicured greenery in addition to the most gracious home of the late Mrs. Edith Rosenwald Stern is well worth a visit in any season," she continued.

"We were all together on a bus chartered from the Mississippi Limousine Service, and our trip home was 'fun time' with lots of refreshments prepared by the hostesses and an old time song fest. As in most cases down south, we threw in a little lagniappe with a short stop at our new Hospitality Center. We all have every reason to be proud of this addition to our Gulf Coast," she concluded.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. J.H. Duggan, Mrs. John S. Lange, Mrs. Roger J. Van Wyckhouse, Mrs. Rene deMontluzin, Mrs. Neil Jeffrey, Mrs. John Isom, Mrs. A.C. Mitchell, Mrs. John Rutherford III, and Mrs. N.L. Snider.

A job well done is its own reward

By S. GRADY THIGPEN

There was a carpenter back during the 1930s—the years of the great depression—who never lost a single day's work during those trying times when most men were jobless.

From about 1930 to 1936 almost everyone was out of work. Industrial plants all over the nation closed down. Prices dropped on everything because there was no money to buy with.

In those days, there was no unemployment insurance. When one lost his job back then all income was lost. Many good men over the state and the nation lost jobs, and many others had their wages reduced to as low as $1 a day—even less in many cases.

I myself in small business had good men come to me and plead for a job at any price even as low as 50 cents a day in order to get something to eat.

To show how serious was this depression, my volume of business dropped more than 75 percent from 1929 to 1933.

But to get back to the carpenter who never lost a day's work, I'll tell you why: he was always employed when most others were jobless.

He was a real craftsman, he was an expert carpenter. He did his work so well that anything he did might be classed as a work of art.

If he built a cabinet it was perfectly done, all the joints fitted, the doors were hung just right and every mortise was near perfect.

The word craftsman according to the dictionary means "A skilled workman, and an artist." Craftsmanship is defined as, "Work or skill of a craftsman."

At the worst of the great depression, this carpenter came to me and said, "I don't want to go on relief. If you'll let me do the work at your house you talked to me about, I'll do it by the day if you'll pay me enough to feed my family."

I took him up on his proposition. He added a room, put wall board on all of the inside of my house, put in new doors, put down a new floor. He worked for over 6 months without missing a day. He did a wonderful job as can be seen even today.

I paid him $1.50 a day and gave him his noon meal, and he was glad to get it.

The word craftsman does not apply to any particular occupation but to the man who does good work, whatever it may be. Many men do their work passively well but the real craftsman literally pours his soul into his work to make it approach perfection.

Whether his work be as a teacher, inventor, businessman, mechanic, farmer, or other work. A man's work whatever it may be tells what he is. It tells his character. He may represent himself to you in every flattering way he can but he cannot hide his work—it speaks for itself showing what he really is.

Everything shows in a man's work, his skill, or his clumsiness. If brick are well laid or carpenter work well done it means that this work has been thoughtfully planned and skillfully done.

The real craftsman is interested in and loves his work. He is puzzled when he hears people talk about work as if it were punishment.

It always worries me when I hear children talk as if they are not interested in school and who delight in getting out of going to school on any pretext.

The real craftsman gets genuine pleasure in the work he does. He is uncomfortable and has a lost feeling when he is not doing his job.

Dr. Ewin Cameron wrote of the idea that not to work was to live a happy life—as "our ally belief that not to work is to enter into bliss." Another quotation: "No man can live a happy life without having interesting work to do."

In the old days before welfare agencies and social security systems there was a widespread saying that if a man did not work he did not eat, but in these days if a man does not work he will not likely starve because welfare agencies will provide for him.

Young people who dance for joy at the thought that the need for constructive work has gone from the world are letting the real enjoyment of life pass them by.

Work well done brings the greatest satisfaction, gives interest and zest to life, offers opportunity for expansion of our lives and makes rest and leisure more appreciated.

If the opportunity for work is taken from the real craftsman, he would demand a change because he was deprived of the enjoyment of and main reason for living.

Every job is important. A man may develop pride in his work regardless of what it is. An old black man takes great pride in keeping my lawn in good order. He is particular to do the best job he can. He gets genuine pleasure in making the place look good. Though he is only a humble yard man, this old man is a real craftsman. He takes pride in doing his work perfectly.

The story is told of a boy who was hired by an important banker to mow his lawn. The boy mowed the lawn so well, getting into all the corners and doing the work so much better than it had ever been done before that the banker offered him a job in his bank.

This former odd jobs boy is now president of that bank all because of a lowly job well done. Dr. J. P. Jacks declared in his book that all a man's duties, to mankind, to his country, family, himself, come to focus in his work.

When a person does his best he not only does a better job but he improves himself. What a person does may matter very little to others but it matters very much to him how he does it.

Working with enthusiasm and with the desire to do it well gives relish to life.

The real craftsman always does his best. He may be untaught in many subjects that we consider necessary for a modern education; he may not score 100 percent in any way but he always applies his knowledge in a practical way to the best of his ability.

He puts the stamp of his spirit on whatever he does. There is a best way to do anything and everything. The real craftsman searches out that way.

The real craftsman is seldom satisfied with his work. He is always searching for better ways to improve his work and increase his production.

He works patiently, unhurriedly, yet energetically and forcefully. He tries every day to know more than he knew the day before. He is a thinking person.

So that they may choose wisely, young people should study earnestly the various careers open to them. It is the person who finds his place in the world and then applies himself to mastery of it who becomes the real craftsman.

His intense interest in developing his talents gives interest and meaning to life.

Every person must draw his own plan of life. With so many diversions today the young person must be on guard not to let his life be frittered away in an unrewarding occupation. In these days with great libraries, and unlimited good books to study and develop one's talents there is great opportunity for the person who studies and tries.

While the real craftsman must draw reasonable pay or he cannot work, the pay he receives in money is only a part of his reward for his services, probably the least part. His real reward comes from the satisfaction of a job well done, and having done his best.

PETS AND TUMORS

Tumors can occur in almost all animal species, including household pets. Some are related to the animal's genetic makeup; others are caused by viruses, external chemicals or radiation.

There is no failsafe way of locating tumors, but there are various warning signs that should alert a pet owner to the possibility of such growths.

These include abnormal swellings, persistent sores, unusual bleeding or discharge, change in skin color, extended lameness, weight loss, fatigue or difficulty in eating or swallowing.

Tumors are actually clusters of disorderly, uncontrolled cell growths. Some are malignant (life-threatening); others are benign.

Many benign growths develop slowly, are usually round or oval in shape and generally do not interfere with the functioning of the pet's vital organs.

In contrast, the malignant or cancerous tumors often grow rapidly and destroy normal tissue.

These tumors are doubly dangerous because their cells may break off and travel through the bloodstream, creating additional tumors in other parts of the body.

Warts are probably the most common form of benign tumors. Generally seen in older dogs, warts can appear singly or in groups. They may develop on your pet's muzzle, eyelids, or other body surfaces.

They generally require no attention, but should be removed if they are irritated by friction from a collar, the floor or the pet's scratching.

Young dogs occasionally get benign skin tumors that look like small, reddish buttons. Because these benign growths may resemble cancerous tumors, your veterinarian may want to remove a small tissue sample for analysis and diagnosis, and treatment if necessary.

Not all tumors appear on the body surface. Some grow in muscle, fat or other tissues under the skin, so that they're more easily felt than seen. These tumors may be firm, enclosed masses or inflamed fluid-filled cysts.

In female dogs, especially those older than six, a lump on the underside of the body can be a breast tumor. Female dogs spayed during their first year have a much lower rate of breast tumor development later in life, so it is wise to consider spaying your female pet while she is quite young.

Other types of malignant growths include bone tumors, which cause prolonged lameness; mouth or nose tumors that interfere with the pet's ability to eat or breathe; and blood cell cancers that disrupt the functioning of body organs.

If your veterinarian confirms that a tumor is malignant, there are various therapies available. Cancerous tumors that are discovered early can often be removed entirely.

For tumors that may have spread, basic surgery may be supplemented with drugs or radiation therapy to help control or stop the unwanted cell growth.

"Whenever people talk to me about the weather, I always feel they mean something else." Oscar Wilde

Hancock school nurse to screen for scoliosis

Screening for scoliosis, curvature of the spine, in students grades four through six, will take place in Hancock County schools this spring, according to Billy D. Sills, superintendent of education.

Evelyn Jacob, R.N., county school nurse, will make a visual examination of each child. The purpose of this program is to recognize scoliosis at its earliest stages so the need for treatment can be determined. The signs are not always pronounced and may be easily concealed as poor posture habits.

If the screening indicates there may be a problem, the parent or guardian will be promptly notified, Jacob said.
